Best Practice- 2

2. Understanding and creating awareness about significance of women empowerment through celebration of International Women's Day

Goal :

- To sensitize the student's and fellow colleagues about gender equality
- To showcase women role models who have contributed to society.
- In spite of the constitutional status and legal provisions, Indian women are discriminated and face number of problems.

Vidya Prasarak Mandal believes in the principle of gender equality. Most of the key positions in College are held by women. Women teachers and girl students outnumber their counterparts.

Women Development Cell (WDC) attempts to bring about a positive and constructive outlook and so it equips and imparts girl students with techniques and skills which will help them to face various challenges courageously.

During International Women's day Celebration information about the programs like self-defence, haemoglobin test of girl students, sex education program for both boys and girls organized by WDC is given to the stakeholders.

The Context:

The changing trends of celebrating International Women's Day in present times with clicking selfies, huge discounts on various products at different malls and on online shopping basically has made this day a glamorous event in the society. In many countries, it is reduced to being just one of the public holidays and in some countries, it is completely ignored.

It is the responsibility of evolved institutions in the academics to rectify this glossy perception of celebrating it. It is to remind us that International Women's Day is to be celebrated as a mark of civil awareness of woman's rights; it is a day to celebrate womanhood. It is also a day to mark the achievements and accolades of women who have created a space for themselves in patriarchal society like India.

The Practice:

Generally, we club together the celebration of International Women's Day and death anniversary of Savitribai Phule, the first woman teacher of Maharashtra which is on 10th March.

Keeping the aim in mind, WDC showcases the crucial role of eminent women who have displayed unusual strength or courage and have empowered themselves and set an example before society.

Various programs organized on this day includes:

- Dialogue with women belonging to aviation industry
- Performance by women teachers titled 'Milun Saryajani' enacting role of different women social reformers of Maharashtra
- Program depicting portrayal of women in literature
- Debate of students on gender equality
- In the academic year 2018-19, on this occasion two women rickshaw drivers of Thane were felicitated which was followed by an interactive session with them.

Unique Feature:

Generally, women are felicitated on this day. However, it must be mentioned that Maharashtra has been a unique example where men have contributed to women's cause. Following these footsteps of this progressive thinking, our College in last two years started with a unique practice of felicitating one gentleman from society who has contributed to the societal cause. In the academic year 2017-18 we felicitated Mr. Harish Sadani, founder of MAVA (Men Against Violence and Abuse).

In the year 2018-19, WDC felicitated Mr. Sagar Reddy who is known as the savior of orphans.

Evidence of Success:

These programs create an awareness and understanding among students about gender equality, empowerment of women and contribution of social reformers towards improving the status of less privileged one.

It's an occasion to discuss and ponder over the important issues related to women.

Problems Encountered and Resources Required

Problems:

The International Women's Day falls in the month of March which is a crucial month of examination for the students. This becomes a major constraint in celebrating this day and program for students on a larger scale. Hence, students who are enrolled in WDC, NSS, NCC and some whose examinations are scheduled later are welcomed for the program.

Resources required include the following,

- Auditorium,
- Conference room for conducting various programmes and activities,
- Audio system,
- Photographer,
- Funds for arranging the program
