

Q.5 Read the following prose piece and answer the questions asked below-

The full moon was partly hidden by heavy clouds, but the northern sky held delicate green and pale-blue light, and the moon poured oblique rays upon the river and the words. Then the clouds sailed away, and their edges were tinted with pearl and opal. Spaces of crystalline azure, seas of glass, swam between them, full-filled with moonlight and trembling with scattered stars-stars scarcely seen in the pellucid radiance-stars palpitating, throbbing out breathless melodies. At length the moon emerged, naked and round, glorious, midway above the bridge, suspended in luminous twilight. The cliff shone like marble in her plenilunar splendor. But again the clouds gathered. A vulture's head shot forward and swallowed the moon's silver sphere. Again she triumphed and this time the clouds dispersed in gauze and filmy veils of faintest shell-like hues. Finally, Luna reigned in undisputed majesty.
